Evaluate the Performance, Not the Personalities

Evaluate Behaviors and Outcomes, Not Personalities:
•Focus on what the employee did rather than who they are.

Objective, evidence-based performance reviews are evaluations grounded in measurable, observable facts and data rather than subjective opinions or personal impressions. This approach ensures fairness, consistency, and transparency, focusing on specific behaviors, achievements, and outcomes.

Key Characteristics

Key Characteristics of Objective, Evidence-Based Reviews

1. Fact-Driven:

1. Relies on concrete examples, metrics, and records to assess performance.
2. Avoids vague or emotional language (e.g., "I feel like you're not motivated").

2. Specific and Measurable:

1. Highlights detailed accomplishments or gaps tied to goals, KPIs, or job expectations.
2. Example: "You completed 10 workshops, exceeding the goal of 8 by 25%."

3. Supported by Data:

1. Incorporates relevant metrics, such as:
    1. Deadlines met
    2. Budget adherence
    3. Quality standards
    4. Feedback from stakeholders
    5. Productivity numbers (process improvement)

3-Level Rating Scale

- Below Expected Results:
  - Definition: Performance does not meet established goals or requirements consistently.
  - Examples: Missed deadlines, failure to follow processes or lack of demonstrated improvement in key areas.
  - Action: Highlight specific improvement areas and provide actionable recommendations for development.
- Expected Results:
  - Definition: Performance meets expectations and fulfills all key objectives reliably.
  - Examples: Consistently delivers on goals, maintains strong work quality, and demonstrates accountability.
  - Action: Reinforce positive behaviors while identifying opportunities for further growth.
- Outstanding Results:
  - Definition: Performance exceeds expectations with exceptional, measurable achievements.
  - Examples: Innovating processes that save time/money, exceeding goals by XX%, or exceeding deadlines ahead of schedule more than three times.
  - Action: Recognize achievements and discuss leveraging strengths for further success.

Examples of Objective Statements

1.Timely Project Delivery:

1. Delivered the [Project Name] phase one activities in [country/region] two weeks ahead of schedule, enabling earlier community access to [specific benefit, e.g., clean water, education resources].

2.Budget Management:

1. Managed the project budget of [amount] with [X]% cost savings by streamlining procurement processes while maintaining quality standards.

3.Stakeholder Engagement:

1. Conducted [number] consultations with local stakeholders, ensuring alignment with community needs and securing buy-in for [specific initiative].

4.Monitoring and Evaluation (M&E):

1. Designed and implemented an M&E framework that tracked [specific metric, e.g., health outcomes, school attendance] across [number] regions, resulting in a [X]% increase in measurable project impact.

5.Capacity Building:

1. Trained [number] local staff or partners in [specific skill or process], improving operational capacity by [X]% and ensuring long-term sustainability.

Examples of Objective Statements

6. Adaptation to Challenges:

PERFORMANCE LEVELS	DEFINITION	EXAMPLES
Achieved Above Expected Results	Despite major challenges such as changing priorities, staffing changes, insufficient resources, or externally driven parameters. The employee continually demonstrates successful collaborations within the work environment, overcoming significant challenges. Contributions to program impact are well beyond the employee's level of responsibility. Demonstrates exceptional initiative in achieving results critical to program success and supporting strategic or unit goals. Products and skills create significant changes in their area of responsibility and authority. Employees work productively and strategically with others in non-routine matters, some of which may be complex and sensitive. They consistently demonstrate the highest level of integrity and accountability in achieving unit, program, and management goals. Employee contributions have an impact beyond their immediate level of responsibility.	• Innovations, improvements, and contributions to management, administrative, technical, or other functional areas that influence the work unit. • Adapts when responding to changing priorities, unanticipated resource shortages, or other obstacles. • Initiates significant cross-collaboration opportunities or recommendations. • Lead or participate in workgroups or teams that design or influence improvements in program policies, processes, or other vital activities. • Anticipates the need for and identifies programmatic, process, or unit activities that prepare staff and/or oneself to meet future challenges • Resolves operational challenges and problems without assistance from higher-level staff. • The employee demonstrates knowledge and ability to resolve operational challenges with minimal or required higher-level intervention. • Ensures donor requirements are met and satisfied through contributing to donor reports and outside donor requests. • Exceeds the required time allocated for the position held to serving on workgroups and/or business development proposals. • Steps up to take on additional responsibilities beyond their role when staffing changes or losses occur in their unit or programs. • Performance indicators at this level include outcomes exceeding the expected standards for goals described in the annual performance plan.

PERFORMANCE LEVELS	DEFINITION	EXAMPLES
Achieved Expected Results	Meets performance standards. Work is solid and dependable. The employee consistently demonstrates integrity and accountability in achieving the Partners program and management goals. The employee conducts follow-up actions based on performance information available to him/her. The employee seizes opportunities to improve unit or program results and includes employee, internal, or external customer perspectives.	• Effectively plans, is well-organized and completes work assignments that reflect position or team requirements. • Decisions and actions demonstrate ethics, integrity, accountability, and organizational awareness. This includes mission, function, policies, technological systems, and organizational culture. • Independently follows up on actions and improvements that impact the immediate work unit, establishes and maintains strong relationships with employees and/or clients/donors, understands their priorities, balances their interests with organizational demands and requirements, effectively communicates necessary actions to them, and employee/customer satisfaction is conveyed. • When serving on teams and workgroups, contributes substantively and according to standards identified in the plan. • Contributes to meeting donors' requirements, deadlines, or outcomes.
PERFORMANCE LEVELS	DEFINITION	EXAMPLES
Below Expected Results	Does not meet performance standards. Repeat observations of performance more than twice in an occurrence indicate negative consequences in key outcomes (e.g., quality, timeliness, results, customer satisfaction, etc.) as described in the annual performance plan. The employee fails to meet expectations. Immediate improvement is essential for job retention.	• Failed to meet assigned deadlines without notifying the supervisor before the deadline. • Does not apply technical knowledge to work assignments. • Fails to adhere to required work assignment procedures, instructions, and/or formats. • Fails to adapt to priorities, procedures, or program direction changes. • Impacts on program performance, productivity, morale, organizational effectiveness, and/or customer satisfaction need improvement. • Work assignments require major revisions after the second submission.
