I really enjoyed spending time with people outside my team! My team is awesome and I loved getting to make more friends

Great planned activities and motivation

Walking challenges every Wednesday; challenges for more than once a week

Now that we have more structure in terms of the rules and how to apply steps during SL/AL, I think this will help get more people to participate in the future.

the strengths are the chance to get active, and distress during the work

It was fun. And I liked the team approach to motivate each other.

Great job on organizing this month-long activity, especially the boosters! I understand that this was the first time this has been done, so that next time, you can provide clearer guidelines on what can/cannot be counted, start/stop times, etc. Thanks again!

Great organization and energy from the event planner - thanks!! Maybe we can use one standard for when to start and stop monitoring. I think it was not completely clear on this part, but the general idea of the W@W was fantastic.

I typically walk in the office but was motivated to do it more consciously. I however need to get a Fitbit again as I always forget my phone maybe next time I will use a pedometer perhaps more organized activities. maybe among teams to boost moral and get to know team members more. could be in addition to the wednesday booster activities.

Great stuff! Very fun and I'm glad I got to participate

Wednesday Walk Boosters was a strength, weekly printed walking logs on our desks, an area of improvement are the rules on counting steps.
