PROJECT REVISION FORM

Project Title: Mexico Awareness Raising Project

Grantee: Partners of the Americas (POA)

Cooperative Agreement Number: L-35868-21-75-K-

USDOL Appropriation Number: 0-1605-2021-2501652024BD20210165034320MILAB0M0000MUSMCAMILOTL-M9K106-410043---

Submission Date: July 14, 2023

BACKGROUND AND JUSTIFICATION FOR PROJECT REVISION

The purpose of this Project Revision is to 1) Request approval to replace Key Personnel – Monitoring and Evaluation (M&E) Officer

1. Request to Replace Key Personnel – Monitoring and Evaluation (M&E) Officer

This Project Revision requests approval to replace project Key Personnel (M&E Officer) with Mr. Luis Madrid Rodriguez.

The Mexico Awareness Raising Project's (MAP) Previous M&E Officer, Mr. Gabriel Velazquez began working on the project as a consultant on May 2, 2022 and was formally approved by the U.S. Department of Labor (USDOL) as key personnel on August 10, 2022. Mr. Velazquez experienced difficulty working in M&E to the standards of MAP and USDOL. As such, in November 2022 he was placed on a 30-day performance improvement plan and worked closely with Partners of the Americas' (Partners) M&E Specialist Andrea Ingolotti to improve his ability to develop and monitor project indicators. However, Mr. Velazquez was unable to meet the requirements of his performance improvement plan. His last day working with the project was December 2, 2022.

After Mr. Velazquez's departure from the project, Partners published an open and competitive solicitation for candidates interested in filling the M&E Officer role. POA hired a headhunting service in Mexico to assist with the search for qualified candidates. After interviewing finalist candidates, Mr. Madrid was selected as the top candidate for the position. On June 7, 2023, Mr. Madrid began an M&E consultancy for the project.

Since beginning his consultancy, Mr. Madrid has met expectations in his current role. He demonstrates a solid understanding of the M&E concepts and has been working closely with Ms. Ingolotti and MAP's M&E Analyst, Mr. Carlos Hernandez, to learn the specific M&E needs and standards of the project. He has received extensive training on MAP's design and project document, with a specific focus on the performance monitoring plan (PMP), project indicators, as well as USDOL standard indicators. Both Ms. Ingolotti and Mr. Hernandez are working closely with Mr. Madrid to hand-off leadership of MAP's M&E activities, and will continue to support him during his transition into this leadership role.

Mr. Madrid already has experience working with field-based stakeholders to share M&E indicators and data collection standards for project monitoring. As MAP has been working to build the M&E capacities of its sub-awardees and resource partners, Mr. Madrid's onboarding has placed special emphasis on the challenges of each organization and the project's efforts to improve field-based data collection and monitoring. Mr. Madrid has demonstrated a thorough understanding of project M&E needs and design during his onboarding process.

- Mr. Madrid Rodriguez has over a decade of experience in M&E and policy analysis
- During his 17-month tenure as the Monitor, Research, Education, and Learning Analyst for the Skills for Prosperity Mexico (SFPMx) program at Development Alternatives Incorporated, Mr. Madrid Rodriguez developed and oversaw the implementation the monitoring and learning framework for the SFPMx program. He oversaw the data collection from over 2,500 program beneficiaries and developed a monitoring system comprised of 20 indicators to ensure adherence to project perspectives of equality and inclusion. He also successfully shared this framework and its results with stakeholders and partners, training them on its application and overseeing their M&E processes and results.
- As an independent consultant, Mr. Madrid Rodriguez provided research and institutional capacity building services to public, private, and non-profit organizations working in public problem-solving, helping to develop data collection and analysis. He has a demonstrated ability to work and liaise with diverse entities across sectors to ensure thorough and accurate reporting and oversight.
- Mr. Madrid Rodriguez has experience in the promotion, execution, and monitoring of public awareness-raising campaigns from his tenure as a Policy Analyst at Momentum, where he built strategic alliances with national and local entities to maximize the reach and evaluate the impact of the "10:10 Campaign" for the reduction of greenhouse gases in municipalities across Mexico.
- Experience in strategic planning and performance measurement, including indicator selection, target setting, reporting, and developing M&E, and/or performance monitoring plans.
- Experience developing and refining data collection tools.
- Mr. Madrid Rodriguez worked as a Development Information Solution (DIS) Specialist for 10 months at International Business & Technical Consultants, Inc. (IBTCI), where he trained and supported field-based USAID staff and implementing partners to collect and analyze data associated with IBTCI's projects. He developed DIS standard operating procedures and worked to build the data collection and M&E capacities of implementing partners in the framework of IBTCI's missions.
- Mr. Madrid Rodriguez provided research and institutional capacity building services to public, private, and non-profit organizations working in public problem-solving, helping to develop data collection and analysis. He has a demonstrated ability to work and liaise with diverse entities across sectors to ensure thorough and accurate reporting and oversight.
- Mr. Madrid Rodriguez worked for nine years as a Policy Analyst for Civicus, providing research and institutional development services to public, private, and non-profit organizations working to address public policy problems. In this position, he supported research and data analytical initiatives to inform the structure and activities of projects. He also facilitated strategic planning workshops and dialogue tables with stakeholders to maximize the effectiveness of project initiatives and homogenize efforts across actors.

- Mr. Madrid Rodriquez has a bachelor's degree in politics and public administration from El Colegio de Mexico in Mexico, as well as a diploma in Education Policies and Interventions from Centro de Investigacion y Docencia Economicas in Mexico, demonstrating his educational background in public policy and research. Mr. Madrid Rodriguez is a native Spanish speaker and is fluent in English.

POA Requests that the solicited changes to replace Key Personnel – M&E Officer retroactive to June 7, 2023.

EXPERIENCE

Green Skills Manager and Policy Advisor October 2022 – April 2023
Skills for Prosperity Mexico (SFPMx)
British Embassy/Development Alternatives Incorporated (DAI), Mexico City, Mexico

Mr. Madrid served as the Green Skills Manager and Policy Advisor for the project titled "Skills for Prosperity Mexico" (SPFMx), an education and workforce development program, with the British Embassy and DAI. Through this role, Mr. Madrid led the Green Skills component of the project, overseeing successful implementation and compliance, and assuring good performance, strong finances, and accomplishment of the project's goals. Mr. Madrid monitored project performance using tools such as the logical framework matrix, work plan, and periodic reports, and supported coordination on the orderly and transparent closeout of the project.

Monitor, Research, Education and Learning Analyst February 2020 – June 2021

Skills for Prosperity Mexico (SFPMx)
DAI, Mexico City, Mexico

Before assuming his role as the Green Skills Manager and Policy Advisor, Mr. Madrid held an additional role with the SPFMx program as the Monitor, Research, Education and Learning Analyst. Mr. Madrid's duties included collection, analysis, and data visualization for decision-making, and delivery of data analysis and visualization workshops for partner institutions. Additionally, Mr. Madrid developed the monitoring and learning framework for the program to track over 2,500 beneficiaries, developed a system of 20 indicators with adherence to the perspective of equity and inclusion, and introduced concepts of data analysis with an equity and inclusion perspective to the project's educational partners.

Development Information Solution (DIS) Specialist November 2021 – August 2022
International Business & Technical Consultants, Inc. – USAID
Mexico City, Mexico/Remote

As a DIS specialist, Mr. Madrid provided strategic input to USAID programs to support, train, and assist staff and implementing partners to identify and upload data associated with the mission's portfolio to DIS. Mr. Madrid's main duties included developing the necessary DIS standard operating procedures and templates to develop DIS capabilities, providing capacity-building and training in using DIS as a reporting, data management, and analysis tool, and providing technical assistance in the use of DIS.

Independent Consultant June 2021 – August 2022

Mr. Madrid worked on various projects as an independent consultant, providing advisory, research, and institutional development services to public, private, and non-profit organizations in public problem-solving. While consulting for the International Youth Foundation in Mexico and Colombia, Mr. Madrid provided assistance on data collection and reporting processes for upper secondary institutions, using diverse systems for school management, and advised on formulating the proposal to execute the Google IT program in marginalized urban schools in Bogotá. As a consultant for Asociación Nacional de Universidades e Instituciones de Educación Superior (ANUIES), Mr. Madrid created a Mexican Higher Education Area with more than 200 institutions. Additionally, he conducted research and in-depth interviews, elaborated and analyzed questionnaires, and formulated normative guidelines.

Chief Officer June 2017 – December 2018
Upper Secondary Education Scholarship Program
Ministry of Public Education, Mexico City, Mexico

As Chief Officer for the Upper Secondary Education Scholarship Program, Mr. Madrid managed the second-largest federal program of education subsidies in Mexico, working with over 13,000 upper secondary education schools nationwide and heading a multidisciplinary team with 50 staff members. Additionally, Mr. Madrid worked to improve the legal framework of the program in accordance with the 2012 Education Reform, engaged in equitable and efficient budget planning with an annual budget of 4.5 billion MXN to allocate funding towards the program's target beneficiary population of young women, low-income, indigenous, and people with disabilities, tracked program spending, supervised contract agreements, maintained the program's orientation towards the goals established in the logical framework matrix, and led his team in closing out the program. During his time managing the program, Mr. Madrid increased the coverage of indigenous student beneficiaries under the program from 5% to 11%, by establishing a strategic alliance with the National Commission for the Development of Indigenous People.

Adviser to the Deputy Minister of Upper Secondary Education February 2014 – June 2017
Ministry of Public Education, Mexico City, Mexico

As Adviser to the Deputy Minister of Upper Secondary Education, Mr. Madrid assisted the chief of staff in the coordination of the different areas of the undersecretary and speech writer for the Deputy Minister. He also acted as a representative of the Deputy Minister in the Working Committee of the Metropolitan Commission of Public Institutions of Upper Secondary Education (COMIPEMS). Mr. Madrid co-organized meetings between the head of the Ministry of Education and state governors of Mexico for implementing the 2012 Education Reform; collaborated in the design process of the Equity and Inclusion Strategy of the Education Reform, which he assisted in implementing nationwide over a period of 3 months; and assessed the implementation route of the Education Reform for Upper Secondary Education. During his time at the Ministry of Public Education, Mr. Madrid and his team successfully implemented all of these programs and strategies.

Policy Analyst August 2013 – February 2022
Civicus, Mexico City, Mexico

Mr. Madrid worked as a policy analyst for Civicus, a nonprofit global alliance that focuses on the strengthening of civil society. As Policy Analyst, Mr. Madrid provided advisory, research and institutional development services to public, private, and non-profit organizations in public problem-solving; conducted background research; and provided written and data analytical inputs for subcontracting proposals. Notable achievements during his time at Civicus include the facilitation of strategic planning workshops, using the problem tree methodology and theory of change to update 22 chapters of the 2030 Strategic Plan of the Nuevo León Council, focusing on topics such as environment and energy, education, and health; and working on a project spearheaded by the UNDP to facilitate virtual dialogue tables using the nominal group technique and group concept mapping to shape regional policy agendas in the State of Mexico.

PolicyAnalyst August 2010 – August 2013
Momentum, Mexico City, Mexico

As a policy analyst for Momentum, Mr. Madrid worked on issues related to environmental policy, including the promotion of the 10:10 campaign, a British initiative for the reduction of greenhouse gases. Additionally, Mr. Madrid provided advice and support for the legal constitution and operation of the Luisa T. Molina Centre for Energy and Environment, a think tank oriented to conducting research and monitoring the impact on Mexico's environmental policy agenda in municipalities in Mexico. Notable achievements during his time at Momentum include supporting the municipality of Salamanca in the state of Guanajuato to relocate brick parks outside the residential areas and introduce projects to diversify productive activities among locals; and building a strategic alliance with Local Governments for Sustainability (ICLEI) to promote the 10:10 campaign nationwide.
